

OWA Woodland Emergency First Aid Kit

The Canadian Red Cross recommends that you keep a well-stocked first-aid kit in your home, workplace, and recreational areas to help you respond effectively to common injuries and emergencies. The OWA Woodland Emergency First Aid Kit is designed to manage a wide range of injuries and emergencies on and off your woodlots and could potentially save a life.

Remember - Safety should always be your top priority.

OWA Member Benefits

- First aid / life-saving kit offered to you at a great price (comparable retail pricing $150)
- Contents of the kits have been designed for woodlot accidents

OWA Woodland Emergency First Aid Kit contents:

The OWA Woodland Emergency First Aid kit contains three parts:

1. First aid materials in an OWA logo bag,
2. OWA logo LifeSaver pouch, and
3. OWA logo Tick Removal pouch.

First Aid bag

Includes a wide range of items for treatment of medical emergencies ranging from minor scrapes and cuts to wound care/trauma, eye injuries, and fractures/sprains. This deluxe first aid kit contains enough materials to help a woodlot family with injuries that could be self-treated, before medical staff arrive, or attended to at a health facility.

OWA Woodland Emergency First Aid Kit

LifeSaver pouch

Includes a hemostatic dressing, two pressure bandages, and a tourniquet for quick containment of life-threatening bleeding in the event of a chainsaw, axe, or saw injury.

The LifeSaver contents are packaged in a small bag with a clip that can be easily stored with the first aid bag or removed and taken with you into the bush.

Tick Removal pouch

Includes all the necessary tools for safe tick removal and wound care including a magnifying glass to remove and identify the tick.

The small pouch is portable and can easily be taken with you in any tick area.

Note: LifeSaver and Tick Removal pouches are also sold separately.
